There was a little girl,
And she had a little curl,
Right in the middle of her forehead;
And she's sure as any ray,
That it isn't coming straight.
For the weather now no longer reaches her.

NO POLITICS IN IT.

The Santa Fe Issues Passes to All Newspapers

AS PAYMENT FOR ADVERTISEMENTS.

The Charge That Populist Papers Are Ignored on Account of Their Politics Refuted by Advertising Manager Simpson.

The Alliance Gazette published at Hutchinson, which has been fighting the Santa Fe for some time, says editorially:

"If the Santa Fe is not in league with the Republican party as some claim, why is it that it gives passes to all the Republican papers and none to the Populist papers? One at a time please."

W. H. Simpson, advertising manager of the Santa Fe, gives the following facts: The Santa Fe does business with the newspapers of Kansas without respect to politics.

The Gazette formerly did business with the Santa Fe, but when that paper entered upon a relentless warfare against the road without regard to politics the advertising manager simply withdrew his business from the columns of the paper and ordered the passes in the hands of its publishers taken up. Afterwards the Santa Fe gave the Gazette transportation with an agreement for fair treatment, but that agreement was soon broken.

The Santa Fe then introduced its advertisements into the columns of the Gazette through a ready print house and as the Gazette did not get transportation for this advertising it has since been fighting the road editorially.

Mr. W. H. Simpson, advertising manager of the Santa Fe, says it is the policy of the road to patronize all the papers in its territory without regard to politics, but that there are a few papers in the state with which the road can not do business just as there are a few men in every community who can not or will not do business with their local merchants.

Mr. Simpson says most of the Populist papers published in towns along the line of the Santa Fe publish advertising matter for the road in exchange for transportation.

ONLY SECOND CLASS MEN

Who Fear the Adoption of the Woman Suffrage Amendment Says Simpson.

Jerry Simpson says he is for woman's suffrage unqualifiedly.

In his speech opening his congressional campaign at Wichita he said: "A responsible human being, innocent of crime, yielding allegiance to the government, answerable to it in person and property for disobedience, and yet denied any political right, is a slave. Women have an inherent and constitutional right to vote and ought not to be barred from exercising that right, and I, as a champion of human rights and constitutional liberty, and believing that every human being is not only allowed but protected in the exercise of all inherent rights he has, cannot consistently do otherwise than uphold the enfranchisement of women."

"There is nothing to fear from women voting. It is only second class men that fear the domination of women in politics. I do not fear it. If she can fill my position better than I can, let her do it; what the people want is results. The constitutional amendment in regard to woman suffrage has to be met by the voters of the state. It will be printed upon all the ballots. It will be found upon the Democratic ticket, Republican ticket and the People's party ticket. The voter must vote 'for' or 'against.' It is an issue by itself, which the voter must determine by his ballot. I have my opinion and convictions upon that subject, and I am in favor of granting to woman her inherent and constitutional right to vote, and shall so declare with my ballot."

"What is woman's cause is man's cause, and I am for the enfranchisement of women first, last and all the time."

A LETTER FROM WINNIE DAVIS.

Published in Billy Bolton's Paper—Not a Woman Suffragist.

Billy Bolton's paper, the Woodward, Ok., "News," publishes a letter from Miss Winnie Davis denying that she has become a Republican.

The story that she had renounced the Democracy was first published in the Troy Herald as follows:

"Miss Winnie Davis, daughter of Jeff Davis, and the 'Daughter of the Confederacy,' who now lives at Colorado Springs, Colo., where women have the right to vote, has announced her determination to vote the Republican ticket. And still the tidal wave continues to wave."

This item was republished in the Wichita Eagle, where it was seen by Captain F. S. Harris of Woodward, Ok., a personal friend of Miss Davis, who wrote to her about the story and received the following reply:

NARRAGANSETT RIVER, R. I., Aug. 30.

DEAR CAPTAIN—Your kindly enclosing clipping of Wichita Eagle from Kansas Chief to hand. Many thanks for the opportunity you give me to contradict in toto the statement. I am proud to say I am a resident of Mississippi and, therefore, would have no right to vote in Colorado.

Again, I never would, under any consideration, give adhesion to any save the Democratic party, in which I have been brought up.

I am not a believer in woman's rights, and, therefore, would have grave doubts about voting, even if my own state were to give her daughters a voice in politics.

I spent three months with my sister (with whom you are acquainted) in Colorado, and that is the only grain of truth I can discover in the story. You will greatly oblige me by positively stating that the statement in the Kansas Chief is untrue. Believe me with renewed thanks, cordially your friend.

(WINNIE) WINNIE ANNIE DAVIS.

MR. PEPPER'S HOPES HIGH.

He Says the Populists Will Have Thirty-Five Congressmen Next Congress.

United States Senator W. A. Pepper expects the Populists to hold the balance of power in the next congress. In speaking of the progress of Populism to a Journal reporter, he said:

"There is a general dissatisfaction among farmers and wage earners throughout the whole country, and they naturally hold the party which is in power responsible. Then the next step is to break away from old party ties and inquire what the Populists propose and what they expect to accomplish."

"Our party is consequently organizing everywhere, and I think we have organizations in every state in the union, with perhaps the exception of Rhode Island and Connecticut, and I think by this time we have organizations in those states also. Congressmen are being nominated in all the districts, and we will have between twenty-five and thirty-five congressmen in the Fifty-fourth congress—enough to hold the balance of power."

"Our greatest gains will come from the south and northwest, and in the large cities. And it is possible and within the range of probability that we will get one member in New York and three in Chicago. We will hold our own in all the states and gain in many. The states in the northwest where we will gain are Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado, Wyoming, Montana, Minnesota and the Dakotas."

"In Nebraska, things are somewhat mixed, and the Populists show a disposition to unite with the Democrats, which will probably result as it did in Kansas, in electing a Democrat to the United States senate."

"In the south a majority of the white voters south of Virginia are Populists, except perhaps in Louisiana and Texas. The negroes will largely go to the Democrats—at least their votes will be counted that way. The fight there is like it is in Kansas, the dominant party is fighting the Populists, not the old enemy."

"What is known as Jeffersonian Democracy is coming our way. The earthworks have been taken—to use an army phrase—and the rest will soon follow."

"At the last election in Alabama, as far as the actual vote is concerned, we carried the state by a big majority but in the black belt they made up the votes they lost elsewhere. In Tom Watson's district two years ago he carried nine out of the ten counties. The other county included Augusta and they made up the losses there. They waited until they knew how many votes were needed and then they supplied them in the tenth county. That is the way they are trying to do things in the south."

POLITICAL NOTES.

Col. W. P. Tomlinson says when Senator Martin comes home his first duty as a Democrat will be to straighten out the Shawnee club which was called into life to do him honor.

Tom O'Neill the Democratic candidate for congress in this district has declined to get off the track in favor of S. M. Scott the Populist nominee.

C. L. McKesson of Howard, Elk county, will be one of the most prominent candidates for the Populist nomination for congress to succeed Jeff Hudson in the Third district. Mr. McKesson is now one of the most influential members of the state central committee and is a trusted advisor of Chairman Breidenbach.

Chairman Breidenbach has received a letter from E. H. Atchison of Oswego, Lettette county, chairman of the Third district congressional committee, in which he says Jeff Hudson is all right, his withdrawal was simply on account of his private business, but that he has made a large contribution to the congressional campaign fund and has agreed to stump the district for the Populist ticket.
